Happy news for growing up with screens

FRONT PAGE NEWS

New Year, New Deal!

Happy New Year!

The Planet Friends are writing screen deals with their families this month. Here is how yours can too.

A screen deal is a short list your whole family agrees: when screens are on, where they sleep, and what happens when time is up. No arguing every night, because the deal already says.

Turn to page 3 to write yours in six steps, then pin it up with the poster in the middle of this paper. Your grown up gets a star bit too.

WOW FACT

January is named after Janus, a Roman god with two faces: one looks back at the old year and one looks forward to the new.

A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Happy New Year, and welcome to Issue 2!

This month is all about fresh starts. The Planet Friends are writing screen deals with their families: short, fair lists that everyone agrees. Yours can too, with the poster in the middle of this paper.

There is a challenge to try, a big question to vote on, and puzzles and jokes at the back. The bits for grown ups are marked with a star.

Happy New Year, DiGi

News in brief

FROM AROUND THE PLANET

Pebble's family counts birds

Pebble's family spent one hour by the window counting garden birds. Pebble saw a robin and drew it for the fridge.

Bloop's tablet gets a parking spot

Bloop made a sign for the kitchen shelf where the tablet sleeps. Make your own sign on page 11.

Orbit's password rule

Orbit's grown up says a password is like a toothbrush: you never share it. Orbit agrees, and keeps it secret.

Cosmo tries phone free dinners

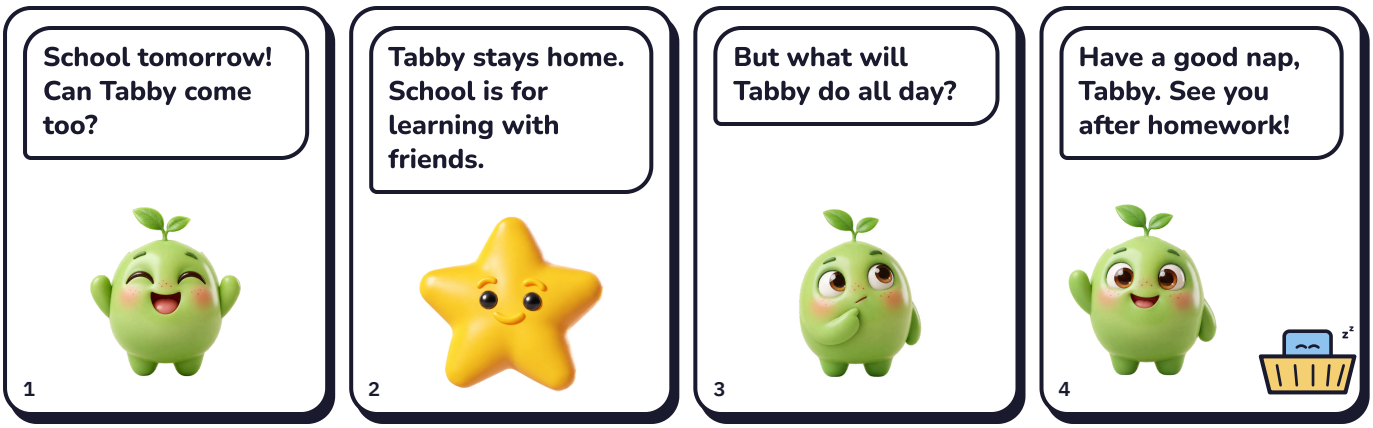

Cosmo parked a phone for a whole week of dinners. Cosmo says the best bit was the silly table talk. Try it on page 4.

? DID YOU KNOW?
The RSPB's Big Garden Birdwatch began in 1979. Every January, families count the birds they see in one hour.

? DID YOU KNOW?
The first website ever went online in 1991. You can still visit it today.

THE COMIC STRIP, PART 2 TO BE CONTINUED

The big feature

Write your family's screen deal

A screen deal is a short list your whole family agrees. Write it together in the first week of January, then pin it up on the poster on page 7.

1 Look back at Christmas

What went well with screens, and what was tricky? Everyone says one of each.

2 Choose protected times

Times with no screens at all, for everyone. Meals and bedtime are good ones to start with.

3 Agree earned time

Which jobs earn stars, and how many minutes a star is worth in your house.

4 Pick where screens sleep

One spot in a shared room where every screen charges overnight.

5 Plan the stop

Decide together what happens when time is up, so it is never a surprise.

6 Sign it and pin it up

Everyone signs the poster on page 7. Check it again at half term.

★ FOR GROWN UPS

Keep it short, and use your child's words where you can. Ask what they think is fair before you say what you think. If a line is not working, change it together at half term, never in the middle of a row.

This month's challenge ONE TICK FOR EVERY PHONE FREE DINNER

Seven phone free dinners

For one week, every phone and tablet sleeps in its spot while the family eats. Grown ups too! Write everyone's name, then tick each dinner you do.

The rule: phones stay parked from the first bite to the last plate cleared. A missed night is fine. Just carry on.

TABLE TALK 1
What was the best bit of your day, and the trickiest?

TABLE TALK 2
If you could have any job for one day, what would it be?

TABLE TALK 3
What should we do together this weekend?

THIS CERTIFICATE SAYS THAT

The big question

READ BOTH SIDES, THEN VOTE

Should grown ups have screen rules too?

Families answer this one differently, and that is fine. Read both sides, then have a family vote.

SIDE ONE

Yes, rules for everyone

SAYS NOVA

- ☆ If phones are parked at dinner, every phone should be parked.
- ☆ Grown ups get busy on screens too.
- ☆ It feels fair when the deal is the same for everyone.

SIDE TWO

No, grown ups are different

SAYS COSMO

- ☆ Grown ups use phones for work, for paying for things and for keeping in touch.
- ☆ Some calls really cannot wait.
- ☆ Grown ups can be needed by family at any time.

What if the deal has one line for everyone, like phones parked at dinner, and a few lines just for kids?

The app desk FAMILY SETTINGS, MADE SIMPLE

Five settings to look at together

Most tablets, phones and consoles have a family settings page. Sit down with your grown up and look at these five together.

- Time limits
- Who can chat
- Buying inside apps
- Age limits on downloads
- Bedtime for the screen

Ask these while you look

1. Which settings are on already?
2. How long can I play each day?
3. Who can send me messages?
4. What happens if I tap buy?
5. When does the screen go to sleep?

Most social media apps say you must be 13 or older to have an account.

My grown up says Yes Not yet

Dear DiGi

"My tablet says time is up right in the middle of a level. It is not fair!" A question lots of children ask

That one is tricky. Before you start, agree with your grown up that you stop at the end of a level, not on the clock. Then the save point is the finish, and you know what comes next.

★ FOR GROWN UPS

Our app: Guided Childhood

Guided Childhood is the family app behind this newspaper. Your child gets their own app with no login: jobs earn stars, and stars become screen minutes. Every stage has short lessons on games, social media and AI, stamped in their Digital Passport. Grown ups get one small script for the evening's tricky moment.
