

Colour a star for every job done

THIS CHART BELONGS TO

1 star = 5 minutes

of screen time, on games, the device or the telly. Earn them from the jobs below, spend them when you like.

YOUR PLANET FRIENDS CHEER YOU ON

Little ones (4 to 7): colour a star and spend it the same day. Bigger ones (8 up): tally the week on Sunday and choose how to spend.

Play and outside jobs pay the most stars on purpose.
Screens are brilliant, but bodies and brains grow strongest running about and making things.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR CHART

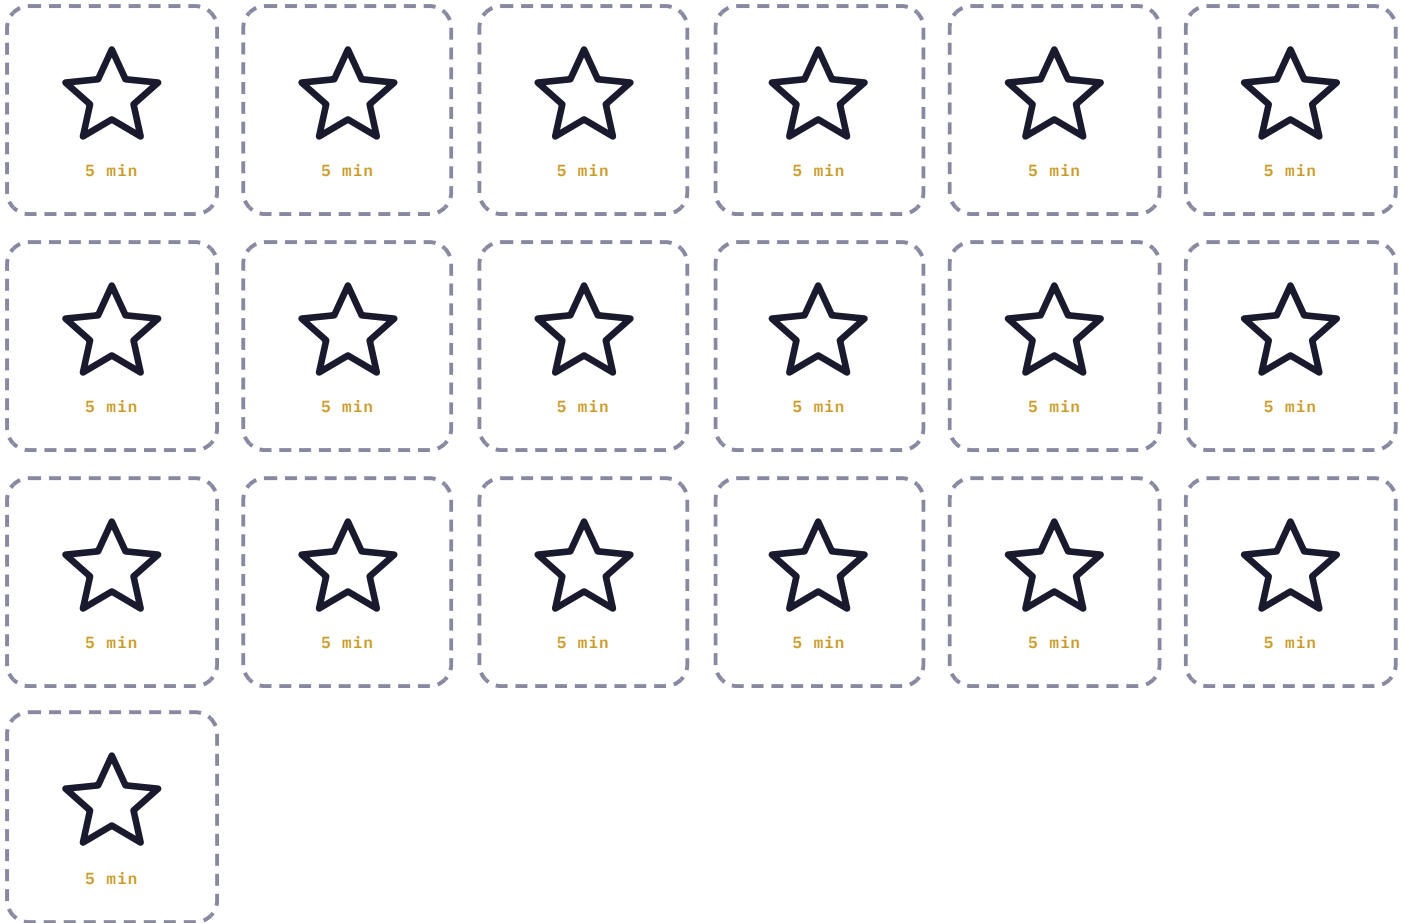

Five minutes, then it runs itself

- 1 Print the chart page and this jobs list.
Card stock lasts longer.
- 2 Write their name at the top and swap in any jobs that fit your family.
- 3 Laminate it, or slide it in a wallet, so a dry wipe pen makes it last all year.
- 4 Stick both pages on the fridge at their eye height, chart on the left, jobs on the right.
- 5 Colour a star together the moment a job is done. Naming the good thing is half the reward.
- 6 Spend the stars: five minutes of screen
each, or save them for a bigger treat.

DiGi says: never take a star back. The chart only ever pays out. Consequences live somewhere else, this is where the good gets seen.

Print these on card, cut them out, and hand a real gold star over the moment a job is done. Little ones love holding the star before they stick it on the chart. Each one is worth five minutes of screen time.
